Human Scavenger Hunt: Find classmates with similar interests, colors, pets, etc.

Gratitude Circle: Share something they're grateful

for in the classroom

Mindful Movement: Simple yoga poses connected to emotions (tree pose for grounding, butterfly for calm)

INTERMEDIATE/HIGH SCHOOL

Toss and Chat Game:

What You Will Need: An inflated beach ball

and a permanent marker

Set-Up: Write silly random topics on each colored portion of the beach ball, for ## example:

Have you ever waved at someone thinking you know them, only to realize they are the wrong person?

If animals could talk, which would be the most sarcastic?

Do you eat or drink soup?

What is an embarrassing song that you secretly enjoy?

Do you think penguins have knees? How to Play: Have the group stand in a circle and begin by tossing the ball to each other. Whoever catches the ball must answer the question that their right index finger ends up touching. Continue until everyone has had a chance. Would You Rather...?: A great way to start the day with a focused prompt and picture.... Bonus you begin to learn about your students. You tube or Example PDF here.

Guess That Movie:

What You Will Need: Nothing! Set-Up: Dive a larger group into small teams of 4-6 people. How to Play: This game is played similarly to charades. Have each team secretly decide on a movie scene they want to re-similarly to charades. Have each team secretly decide on a movie scene they want to reenact. They will only have 3 minutes to present their scene to the whole group to see who can correctly guess the movie. The team who correctly guesses the most movies wins.

PicWits! Pick one prompt card like "First day at a new job" or "High school life" and have participantspick an image that best matches. This sets a light tone and allows for quick sharing of humour or perspectives. A game where players try to match picture cards with caption cards to create the funniest or most fitting combination.

Taboo: Many useful examples online. You could set this up in teams. Each team sends one person to sit with their back to the board (So they can't see the board). Here is an example of a slide you could post. Students are trying to help their teammate guess the word, however, they are not able to use the words under it.

2 truths and 1 lie: Students share three "facts" about themselves – two true and one false. Others guess which statement is the lie, fostering communication and learning about each other.

Silent Ball: A fun game where students pass a soft ball around the room silently, promoting focus and non-verbal communication.

Closing Circle

Feelings check-out: Compare morning and afternoon emotions Highlight of the day: One thing that made you smile

Gratitude moment: Thank someone

in the class

Tomorrow preview: One thing you're looking forward to

High-Five / Compliment or Appreciation Circle

Students walk around giving affirmations or high-fives—boosts morale and connection.

Exit Tickets / Exit Cards

Students jot down a quick reflection, rating, question, or "rose/thorn/bud" (something positive, a challenge, and something they look forward to) before class ends—fast, insightful, and easy to review

Maitre d' Small Groups

Call out group sizes (e.g., "Table for 3"), students form groups and respond to a prompt (e.g., favorite moment).

Dismissal

Personal farewell with eye contact for each student

Positive send-off: "Have a wonderful afternoon! You made today special!"

Share one positive thing about their child's day with families

Snowstorm / Snowball Toss

Write a key takeaway, crumple it, toss them, then read a peer's insight aloud

3-2-1 Wrap-Up

Write 3 things learned, 2 fun facts, and 1 remaining question then share with a partner or submit

Gratitude Sharing

"Say one thing you're thankful for today"— builds community and positivity

Read-Aloud Sessions

Social-Emotional Learning Books

Primary Choice: "The Colour Monster" by Anna Llenas
Before: "Have you ever felt mixed up about your feelings?"
During: "What feeling do you think this color represents?"
After: "Which feeling color do you connect with today?"
Other SEL Suggestions: "In My Heart" by Jo Witek, "The Way I Feel" by Janan Cain, "When Sophie Gets Angry" by Molly
Bang, "The Invisible String" by Patrice Karst

Wordless Picture Books

Book Suggestions: "Flotsam" by David Wiesner, "Journey" by Aaron Becker, "The Red Book" by Barbara Lehman, "A Ball for Daisy" by Chris Raschka

Prompting Questions:

Before: "What do you notice? What might this story be about?"

During: "What is the character feeling? What might happen next? What do you notice that tells us about the story?" After: "What was your favorite part? How did the character feel at the end? Have you ever felt like this character?"

Literacy Circle Questions:

Character Focus: • What did you learn about (character's name) throughout the story? How did theychange or grow? • If you could ask (character's name) one question, what would it be? • Which character did you relate to most, and why? • How would you describe (character's name) to someone who hasn't read the book?

Theme and Ideas: • What was the most important lesson or idea the book taught you? • How did the author use (specific literary device) to emphasize the theme of (theme)? • What other books or stories do you think this book reminds you of, and why? • What questions did this book make you wonder about?

Personal Connection: • How did this book make you feel? Did it evoke any strong emotions? • Did this book change your mind about anything or make you think differently about a topic? • What part of the book stood out to you most, and why? • If you could change one thing about this book, what would it be? • If you could create a playlist of songs that go with the book, what songs would you include and why?

Plot and Structure: • What was your favourite part of the book? • What do you think of the book's title? How does it relate to the story? • If you were making a movie of this book, who would you cast as the main characters? • What was the most challenging part of the book for you to understand? How did you overcome it

Take 5

5 simple sentences and up level them. (add adjectives, add adverbs, add adverbial phrases (where and when). Change the mood etc.

The dog barked. Excitedly, the fluffy, white dog barked in the street.

He sniffed the air. He sniffed the rancid air that drifted past his wet, cold nose.

Book: Pie Corbett: Jump start Grammar – lots of quick games no or low prep. Good to start lessons.

Math

Problem solving question back up work.
e.g. The wolf, goat, and cabbage river crossing puzzle is a classic logic problem. The farmer needs to transport a wolf, a goat, and a cabbage across a river using a boat that can only hold one item in addition to the farmer. The challenge is that the wolf will eat the goat if left unattended, and the goat will eat the cabbage if left unattended. The solution involves strategically transporting the items across the river to avoid any unwanted meals.

Counting breaths together while moving
Stretch and breathe with simple movements
Gratitude moments about the previous activity

Behaviour Management Strategies

Positive Approaches

Catch students being kind with specific praise: "I noticed how gently you helped your friend"

Use positive language: "Please use walking feet" instead of "Don't run"

Create a kindness chart with stickers for caring behaviors

Calm-Down Techniques

Breathing exercises: "Take three deep breaths with me"
Quiet corner with soft materials for emotional regulation
Feeling thermometer to help students identify emotional intensity
Lower your voice when students get loud

Clear Expectations

Use consistent hand signals for quiet, attention, and transitions
Post visual schedule so students know what to expect
Validate feelings: "I can see you're frustrated. Let's figure this out together."
Offer choices: "Would you like to take a break or try a different activity?"

Building Connections Fast

- Learn names quickly using name tags
- Ask about students' interests, families, pets
- Share appropriate things about yourself
- Follow posted routines and ask students "How do you usually do this?"

Emergency Support

- Validate feelings and offer comfort items if students become upset
- Use regular teacher's calm-down procedures if posted
- Contact office for additional emotional support if needed
- Remember: Building relationships is more important than perfect lesson execution
